“And just when the caterpillar thought the end had come, it transformed into a butterfly...”

Welcome to your Renaissance moment...

We grow up rushing to reach tomorrow. We carve out time from our daily lives to build a future, without appreciating the meaning of the journey, without appreciating that life is the path.

The only path is one of constant search, daily resurrection, rebirth without fear.

The 4 doors

I wake up, I cross the threshold, I am instantly overcome by a sense of peace. I don't know how to explain it. I close my eyes and I notice a soft perfume wafting on the air that transports me, I feel like my feet aren't touching the ground, a sense of being almost weightless...

I don't recognize the place. I only see four doors before me, a word written on each. I'm filled with a deep sense of curiosity. What could be behind each one?

I look closely at the first door, where I can make out the word Phoenix in golden letters. I clearly remember the legend about the mythical bird of Greek mythology that was consumed by fire every 500 years, but then rose from its own ashes.

I keep walking and approach the second door; where I can read the words Al-Haya. The elixir of life, coveted and sought after since time immemorial and, it is said, the source of eternal youth, a legendary potion that grants the drinker eternal life.

The third door also surprises me with its gorgeous golden letters spelling the word Chrysalis. The most important stage in the metamorphosis of the caterpillar, which weaves a delicate silk cocoon after reaching full growth and turns into a beautiful butterfly.

I have one door left, and on it is written Daphne, a forest nymph from Greek mythology, transformed into a laurel tree and a symbol of victory.

It seems like I'm in a magical place, each door holding a promise. Time has come to a standstill and the only thing I can feel is my breathing and the wish to cross those doors and enter each of those rooms.

I feel that the path to my wellbeing has just begun...

FLUIDRA

Experts in wellness solutions and equipment.

Our integrated business model makes it possible to offer turnkey solutions as a one-stop wellness partner from start to finish: from the project's design phase to on-site implementation.

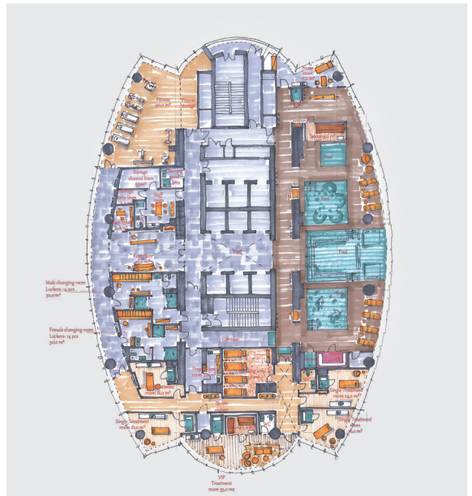

We also offer flexible, outstanding service at every step, springing into action only to cover our clients' needs.

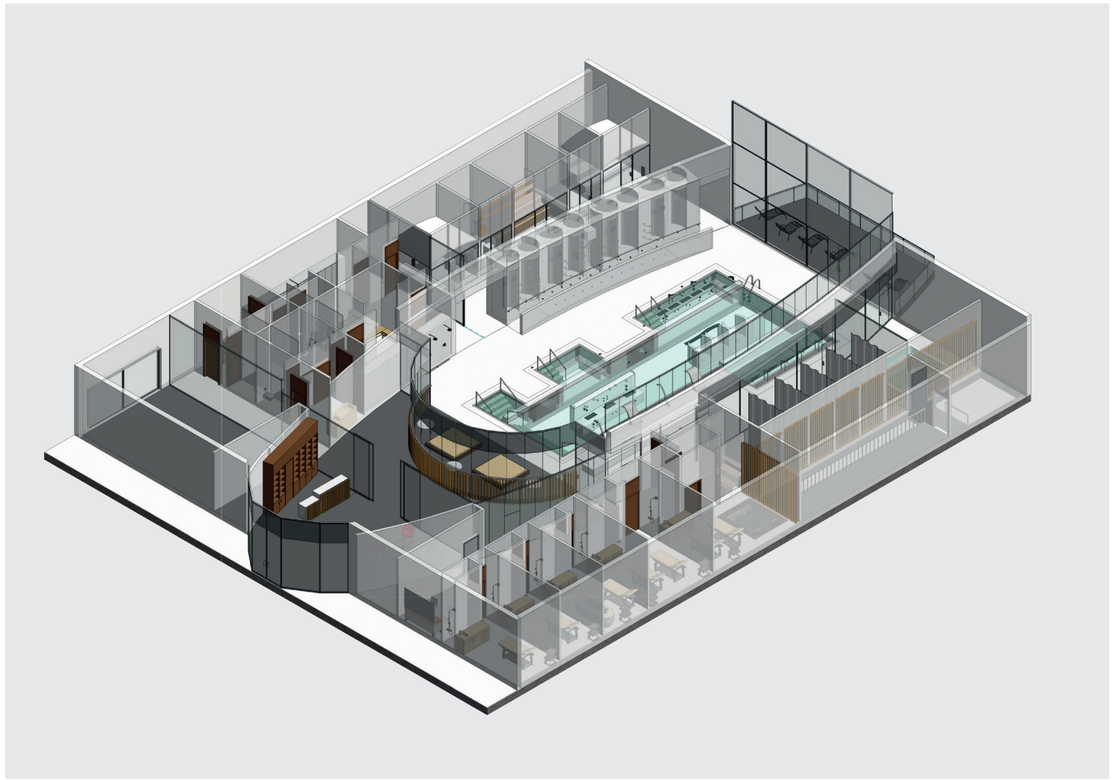

Planning and conceptual design

The conceptual design is developed during the planning phase, making it possible to visualize the essence of the project as it is being designed, combining the requirements of the client's business plan with inspiring conceptual ideas.

In this phase, the working plan for each area of the wellness space is defined, as well as the best way for users to move around.

Design development

Once the conceptual phase is complete, our team develops the architectural, installation, and wellness equipment designs, proposing innovative solutions for a unique and functional project.

Product manufacturing and distribution.

In this phase, we put our own production centers to work to manufacture all the equipment required for the project, turning the designs from the previous phase into a reality under the strictest quality standards.

Installation and project management.

Getting the equipment installation process right is crucial for an excellent result. Which is why we offer installation and supervision at every step of the project, from assembly to launch.

Phoenix

TEMPERATURE ZONE

The sun recreated its reflection in the bird's glorious feathers, gold and red enveloped the sunset, and there was no world beyond the burning fire where the bird would find its end.

The fiery ashes held the seed, the rebirth of life, indestructible, immortal, a life that found a way despite the most brutal of fates.

She cared for her only egg in a nest lovingly built with aromatic herbs and spices and, burned completely on the third day, the Phoenix arises from her ashes, splendid, invincible.

The resurrection of life, spirit, body, and mind united in an eternal song.

Source of health and well-being.

In addition to their spiritual side, saunas have been used for medicinal purposes for thousands of years.

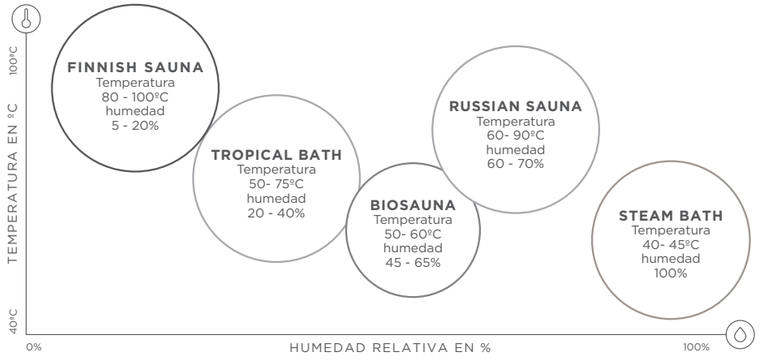

Our ancestors sensed their therapeutic benefits and modern science confirms them.

A sauna is an excellent way to improve the blood and motor system, reduce muscle pain, and increase joint movement. It is also a good partner for our skin, leaving it bright and beautiful.

A sauna is the answer. Having a sauna boosts vitality and energy, helping us stay healthy.

WATER ZONE

Taking the intense, hard journey wasn't enough; one had to persist. The dream of the elixir of life could almost be reached, that miraculous water that, just by touching my skin, would endow my soul with an unstoppable force, that renewed energy that would give my journey a whole new meaning.

Nature had spoken, a period of silence was imposed, a pause, a forced rest for the soul. There was neither yesterday nor tomorrow, only the immense power of an expectant present, a longing that drove me to take the helm of my own existence. To take the reins of my life, our life, with humility and courage. A song of silence was raised to honor the forces of destiny.

There was no other path. Life could only be savored sip by sip, the elixir was there, within my reach, a tangible promise that the best was yet to come.

Mini contrast pools

In the late 5 th century B.C., following the example of the Greeks, the popular Roman baths incorporated cold rooms called "Frigidariums", where bathers would finish their circuit after passing through hot rooms like the steam room or the hot pool. We preserve these rituals of old, fully confident in the health benefits that contrast therapy has on the body. Not only is it good for the skin, but it also increases metabolism, blood flow, and stimulates the widening and narrowing of the blood vessels.

Limiting use to no longer than 2 minutes is recommended.

RELAX ZONE

A silk cocoon enveloped his tiny feet and his entire body. He knew nothing of the coldness of the world beyond the sweet walls that protected him, but he sensed that there was something more outside his small home. He waited and waited, until he felt an inner strength, a sense that he was capable. The metamorphosis was a fact.

He saw himself, felt his body, and was overcome with the power to walk, to move forward. He was ready, prepared for this new stage of life. He carried inside him the heritage of his past, he had in him the hope of a promising tomorrow, he could almost feel the warmth of the sun against his skin. And he woke up.

TREATMENT ZONE

The beautiful nymph chose the shelter of the tree. An imposing laurel would be her eternal home and she thanked her father for his generous gesture. She dreamed that she would see the rise of the springs and that summer would seek her precious shadow. She wouldn't have traveled without pause, without rest, without peace.

The branches of that majestic laurel would be her perpetual refuge, she would find harmony in his beautiful retreat, and there would be no storm that could wash away her idea of rising again with her spirit intact, her body in all its splendor and her mind in the throes of an epic.
